Prof. Jie Liu Becomes the Associate Editor of Nano Research

Prof. Jie Liu, who is from Duke University, was recently invited as an associate editor of Nano Research. Nano Research is an international academic journal sponsored by Tsinghua University and the Chinese Chemical Society. Since the Journal was launched in 2008, Nano Research has been steadily growing in impact in the related disciplines. The latest Impact Factor was 7.354 according to Thomson Reuters' 2017 Journal Citation Report.

Prof. Jie Liu earned a B.S. in Chemistry from Shandong University in 1987 and a Ph.D. in Chemistry from Harvard University in 1996. He is currently the George B Geller Professor of Chemistry at Duke University. His research interests include synthesis and chemical functionalization of nanomaterials, plasmonic catalysis, nanoelectronic devices, scanning probe microscopy, and carbon nanomaterials. As a faculty member, Prof. Liu has received the DuPont Young Professor Award, Outstanding Oversea Young Investigator Award from NSF-China, Ralph E. Powe Junior Faculty Enhancement Award from Oak Ridge Associated Universities, and Bass Professorship from Duke University for excellence in teaching and research. He is elected as a Fellow in AAAS (2013), APS (2014) and RSC (2013).
